

Hop to it: The ultimate guide to Easter in OKC

Discover the best ways to celebrate Easter across Oklahoma City.

OKLAHOMA CITY - It is officially spring in Oklahoma City, and that means it's time to dust off the Easter baskets for a season packed with treats and community fun. From train rides to massive egg scrambles, there is something for every family to enjoy this year.

Key takeaways

- The bulk of events are concentrated on March 28 and April 4-5, so families can easily plan a full Easter weekend itinerary without much scheduling conflict.

- Many events, including the Choctaw Easter Scramble, Easter in the Park, the OKC Dream Center block party and even the Doggy Easter Egg Hunt, are completely free.
- The lineup goes beyond traditional egg hunts to include train rides, farm attractions, a sophisticated hotel brunch, a community market and even a canine-friendly egg hunt, ensuring the whole family (furry members included) can join in the fun.
